PANEL: THE MERGER & THE FUTURE OF BLACK PROGRAMMING: The WB and UPN have been a place where many people of color, behind the scenes and in front of the camera, have been able to launch their careers. Now that the WB and UPN are no longer, and the new network "CW" is set to launch this year, what will happen to those opportunities? Why did the merger take place? Who really benefits from it? Executives, Producers, and Talent from the WB and UPN discuss the politics surrounding the merger and the future of black programming.

Saturday, June 17, 2006 - 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.
